Founded in 1638, long before the Douro became a demarcated region, Kopke is inseparable from the story of Port itself. They were the world's first specialist in Tawny Port, and are a leader in old Colheitas (single vintage Tawny Ports).

The purchase of Quinta de São Luiz in 1992 marked Kopke's production of still Douro wines from the high-quality vineyards that surround the estate, with a variety of red and white wines made there. It is the aged Tawny and White Ports for which Kopke are best known, offering complex blends of nuanced flavours alongside a delicious freshness. As the oldest Port house in existence, Kopke remains a wine producer rooted firmly in quality and heritage; the ports are award winning around the globe, and every one of their bottles is still painstakingly hand stencilled.

Our Sommelier team will be more than happy to guide you through our Kopke range.
